ON BOARD THE TAFT SPECIAL

Next President of the United States
Honored Rushville With His Presence.

PEOPLE WAITED IN THE RAIN

About Two Thousand Loyal Patriots
Stood in Downpour of Rain
to See "Bill."

It was a pity it rained! That is, in a way. But we forgive the weather man for the farmers need the rain worse than the Republicans need votes and enthusiasm now. Everywhere along the line, people came out by the thousands to see the next President of the United States and no man that ever traversed this State has received the great ovations and monster demonstrations accorded Taft.

The train arrived here from Anderson about seven o'clock, or one hour late, and a brief stop was made near the Innis-Pearce furniture factory. A large searchlight was thrown on the rear end of the train and everybody got a look into the good, honest, frank face of a man among men.

Of the stop he made here the Indianapolis Star said today: "Facing several thousand people, who stood in the rain at Rushville, Taft said: 'I am glad to be here to meet the neighbors of Jim Watson, the next governor of Indiana. On November 3d, somebody will be disappointed, and I think that somebody will be the Democrats of Indiana.' Mr. Taft was introduced at Rushville by Fred A. Capp, an auctioneer, whose stentorian voice is the pride of Rush county."

As the train left Rushville a boy who had been clinging to the steps of Mr. Taft's car, jumped off and landed on the soft mud in the bottom of a ditch eight or ten feet below. He scampered away unhurt."

NOTES.

A member of the Republican Commercial Travelers Association of Indiana is a busy little fellow aboard. He distributes pictures and buttons at each stop.

There is a very interesting functionary on board in the person of a Mr. Stone, who is an expert on facts and figures. His drawing room looks like a library. It is filled with volumes on all kinds of industrial and economic subjects and he has only to turn to a page here and there as occasion may require to supply Mr. Taft with information on any topic. He is a veritable encyclopedia and an expert on the tariff.

Did you see a handsome, smooth-faced man of rather bulky proportions who wears a red tie? Few persons know who he is. He is always within a few feet of Mr. Taft. He goes to the rear platform at every stop and stands very close to the nominee. He is one of the crack detectives of the country and was detailed from a Chicago agency. There is also another secret service man on the train that has eyes that never sleep.

After hearing Fred Capp's big voice, the correspondent of the New York Herald remarked to a number of newspaper men as the train left Rushville: "Bet Judge Taft would gladly give ten thousand dollars to have that voice for the next ten days."

Judge Taft got up from the dinner table to address the people of Rushville. He is a hearty "feeder" and apparently has a displacement of many pounds. He ate over "forty miles."

Kin Hubbard, cartoonist of the Indianapolis News, was aboard the special "making faces." Kin has done nearly as much towards having the world laugh at Hoosiers as Edward Eggleston, the creator of the Hoosier Schoolmaster.

The State "went wet" yesterday.

Taft can stand to get wet for a little shrinkage would not impair his physical beauty.

At Anderson there is a colony of over two hundred Rush county folk. And they were all on hand to see Taft. "Hello there, Fred Capp," was a common salutation in the big crowd as the Rushville reception committee moved towards the train.

As the train pulled out after the speaking here a small boy fell into the branch that runs under the Big Four railroad. A report soon spread among the members of the party that a boy had been run over and maimed. This seemed to cast a gloom over the happy party and Judge Taft asked that the train be held while one of the party was sent back to make inquiries regarding the accident. All were pleased to hear the boy was uninjured.

The train did not even hesitate going through Homer and Manilla, Democratic strongholds. At Cartage a large crowd was at the station and it was intended to make a one minute stop there, but this idea had to be abandoned on account of the train being so late.

The Shelbyville reception committee came to Rushville and boarded the special.

Charley Hernly of New Castle, former Republican State chairman, had Ed Crosby in a corner on the train and for a change was talking politics. "Mr. Crosby," said Mr. Hernly, "you folks down at Rushville might as well get ready right now to hold that big jollification meeting after the election for we are sure going to elect Jim Watson by a plurality of from 40,000 to 100,000. The people from all over the State will flock to Rushville and we are not going to be content to ratify one night, or one day either; but are going to make a big two day affair of it. We are going to speak on the streets, in the public square, in the court house, in churches, in school rooms, in fields, in homes, everywhere and every place. Oh, it's going to be a grand and glorious affair."

Everybody was up and on their toes when the train was pulling into Rushville. "This is Jim Watson's town" was the cry sent up and down from one car to another and everybody left their post to take a peek at the crowd and city.

Owen L. Carr of this city quietly took passage on the special train as it pulled out of Rushville. "Rushville's Special Carr," said Louis Ludlow of the Indianapolis Star as he saw Mr. Carr come down Newspaper Aisle.

Capt. W. H. English immortalized a spot near the J. M. & I. depot here by raising the window and throwing off a chew of tobacco he had finished.

Connersville sent over a big delegation to see the next President.

The crowd that braved the elements here and stood in the rain for over an hour to see Taft was estimated at from 1800 to 2500.

"That's the cleverest thing we ever saw," was the consensus of opinion of everybody speaking of the searchlight thrown on the back end of the train while Taft was speaking here. The party talked of it all the way to Indianapolis. The operator of the light, Sam Grimmes, is an expert

EDWARD E. MOORE

State Senator for Fayette, Rush and Hancock Counties, and Republican Candidate for Re-election.

Senator Edward E. Moore, whose home is at Connersville, is just completing his first term in the upper branch of the State Legislature. He served in the regular sessions of 1905 and 1907, and the special session of 1908. He has amply demonstrated his efficiency and usefulness, and his record is without a blemish.

He was a member of several of the most important committees in each of the sessions, and was author of a number of important bills which he pushed through both branches of the Legislature, and secured their enactment into law. He is rated among the leaders, and there is not a more influential or universally trusted member of the State's upper law making body.

Assisted by Senator J. W. Parks, Senator Moore wrote the Public Depository Law, and helped pilot it through both the House and Senate, every inch of the way being contested by powerful interests. Statistics already published show that this law is saving the taxpayers of the State over half a million of dollars annually, interest on public funds that formerly went into the pockets of officials, and the coffers of favored banks.

Senator Moore has ever been foremost in supporting all temperance and reform legislation, and opposing vicious legislation and unnecessary expenditures of the people's money. He voted and worked for the County Unit Local Option Bill.

He was a member of the State Educational Commission in 1906, and had charge of the seven measures recommended by the Commission for the betterment and relief of the public schools of the State, and he secured the enactment into law every one of them.

Senator Moore was born and reared on a farm, his parents being poor. He educated himself, borrowing money of a neighbor to pay his way at the first school he attended away from home. Afterwards he made his way by teaching school in the winter time and attending college in the summer. He engaged in the newspaper business in 1891, continuing till 1904. He has a legal education, secured by attending a law school at night, while working during the day. He is a member of the bar at Connersville.

Mr. Moore is a self-made man in the best sense of the word, and has earned success by hard work and close application to duties. The office of State Senator is the only official position he ever held, except a clerkship lasting two years in the U. S. Census Bureau. His record in the Senate is unexcelled by any man who ever went to the Legislature from this county or district, and the people will show him their gratitude and appreciation by re-electing him on the 3d of November by a splendid majority.

electrician who married Goldie Dunn, the dancer.

Pity indeed that Senator Hemenway did not get to finish telling the story of Bryan and the daisy here. It was a daisy story. Probably the engineer heard it before and like many other people who walk away from story tellers, pulled the throttle prematurely in order to escape it. Anyway the junior Senator made a hit with his brief speech and got a mighty cheer when he referred to "Our Jim."

Capt. Gowdy, John A. Titsworth and Ernest B. Thomas were interested spectators of the big Taft parade in Indianapolis last night, occupying a good position on the Claypool hotel balcony. Through a steady downpour of rain over four thousand men marched for two hours. Judge Taft reviewed the parade near the court house from a motor car. As the car bearing Mr. Taft and party neared Washington and Illinois streets, a crowd rushed out of a saloon and running up to the Taft auto, hollered at the top of their voices for Bryan.

Charley Hernly was talking to Judge Taft after the train left here and he put over some straight talk to the presidential nominee. On account of the bitter and open fight waged by the brewers in this campaign Mr. Hernly said Indiana would give Taft and Watson such a majority that it would open the eyes of many and silence the brewery and saloon element forever. "Whenever the liquor element comes to telling the good people of Indiana that they MUST do so and so, then you will see that the people, regardless of politics, will rise up and resent edicts from such a source," said Mr. Hernly.

The price of hogs took a jump both days that Taft was in the State.

Fred A. Capp was on the reception committee that went to meet Benjamin Harrison when he spoke in Rushville a number of years ago. And the special train came from Anderson on that occasion. Harrison was elected President; history repeats itself.

Mayor Cowing was one of the busiest members of the reception committee. At Anderson he had his brother-in-law, Dr. Newlin, pilot the crowd around. Coming back on the special, if there was any part of the beautifully appointed train the mayor did not see it was because it was locked up. He fell in with the publicity department and was serving as a committeeman distributing literature and buttons of Taft along the way. At Knightstown he almost missed the train in putting off a bundle there.

It was a pleasure indeed to meet Judge Taft and talk with him. He is a big man in every respect; not a bit supercilious but just plain "Bill" Taft, the kind of a man the people of America want for their President.

William Taft is no counterfeit "Bill."

Taft's breezing up and down the State made possibly from 10,000 to 15,000 votes for Taft and Watson, and will be responsible to that extent for the Republican landslide election day. Roosevelt's and Hanly's pluralities will be repeated.

FIRED REVOLVER AT TWO TRAMPS

Pluck of Mrs. VanDorne of West
Second Street, Prevented Another
Daylight Robbery.

INTRUDERS CAME IN KITCHEN

Demanded Something to Eat and Were Making Themselves at Home

The pluck of a woman prevented another broad daylight robbery in this city yesterday, and came near ending fatally for two tramps who boldly entered a home and were only routed after the woman of the household secured a revolver and shot at the intruders.

It was shortly after the breakfast hour when Mrs. Mary VanDorne, living in West Second street, near Benna Vista avenue, looked up from her work in the kitchen to find an uncouth appearing tramp standing in the door. The woman politely said: "Good morning," to the fellow and without taking any heed of her greeting he walked in the door and boldly made as if to help himself and make himself perfectly at home. Mrs. VanDorne was astounded.

"What do you want?" she demanded, becoming frightened at the unusual demeanor of the man.

About this time another man, a pal of the first, appeared in the doorway, and in a commanding voice said:

"Get some bread of the woman and come on."

The first fellow continued to look searchingly about the home as if he meant to take anything that suited his fancy.

"I will get you something nice to eat, if you will wait," said the woman as calmly as she could, although she was half frightened to death.

Mrs. VanDorne then quickly repaired to the next room and securing a revolver came back and faced the two bold intruders. She raised the gun and leveled it at one of the fellows, but before she could fire he gave a warning yell and fled out of the house. Mrs. VanDorne fired but the bullet went wide of the mark. The second fellow then made away. Mrs. VanDorne half swooned when she fired the shot and when neighbors rushed into her home they found her on the verge of nervous prostration.

WHAT HAS BECOME OF --

The fellow who always took an umbrella with him when he left town if there wasn't a cloud in six hundred miles and always brought it back dry and rolled up.

The man who was telling you how to grow rich by raising chickens, calculating that a small coterie of hens would lay enough eggs when hatched to bring enough hens that would lay enough eggs etc. etc.

BABY KILLED IN A RUNAWAY

Sad Accident Occurred Near St.
Paul—Victim Was Niece of Mrs. Charles Hall.

HURRIES TO SISER'S BEDSIDE

Mother Was Thrown From Rig and Rendered Unconscious—Does Not Know of Baby's Death.

Mrs. Charles Hall, living in Circleville, received the sad intelligence last night that her sister Mrs. Frank Hinton had been injured in a runaway near St. Paul and her fifteen-month-old baby killed. Mrs. Hall left at once for St. Paul.

The Shelbyville Democrat contains the following account of the accident:

A sad accident occurred this morning at nine-thirty o'clock about four miles southeast of St. Paul. As a result of a runaway the fifteen months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hinton is dead, Mrs. Hinton is suffering from a fractured collarbone, and severe cuts on her face, and Mrs. Mary Shaner had her right arm broken in two places above the elbow.

Mrs. Shaner, who is aged fifty; Mrs. Hinton, who is aged forty-two, and the child had started from the Hinton home to the home of Henry Townsend, where they were to take dinner. At the Rutherford hill the horse which they were driving became frightened and began to run. In trying to turn a corner in the road it plunged the buggy against a fence post, turning the vehicle over and hurling the occupants with great force to the ground.

Mrs. Hinton has been unconscious the greater part of the time since the accident. Her baby suffered a concussion of the brain and lived but two hours. Mrs. Shaner is also suffering greatly. The horse which caused the trouble is a spirited animal, but has been raised by the Hintons and was frequently used by any of the members of the family. It had never brought them into difficulty previously.

At the hour of going to press Mrs. Hinton, mother of the baby killed, and who is unaware of the fate of her child, is still unconscious.

COW WAS VICTIM OF HYDROPHOBIA

Animal Found Suffering With Strange
Affliction and Veterinary Was Called.

LATER FELL AND BROKE NECK

A cow belonging to David McDaniel of North Main street, is dead, being a victim of hydrophobia. Thursday, the animal began to act in a mysterious and strange manner and the family became alarmed. Dr. Davis, the veterinary, was called and pronounced it a case of hydrophobia. Yesterday evening the cow fell in the stable and broke her neck, death resulting instantly. All are at a loss to know how the animal contracted the dread affliction and do not know whether or not she was bitten by a dog.

VINOL CURES CHRONIC COUGHS, COLDS AND BRONCHITIS

After Other Remedies Fail

"I have been troubled with a chronic cold and bronchitis for a long time and have tried many remedies without finding relief. Through the kind suggestion of a friend I tried Vinol, and after taking four bottles, am entirely cured." A. H. Wilde, 733-8th Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.

S. McDonald, 147 W. Congress St. Paul, Minn., writes: "I contracted a severe cold last winter and thought I would never get rid of it. I tried Vinol as a last resort, and it has completely cured me."

Vinol combines two world-famed tonics, the healing, medicinal properties of cod liver oil and tonic iron, deliciously palatable and agreeable to the weakest stomach. For this reason, Vinol is unexcelled as a strength-builder for old people, delicate children, weak and run-down persons, after sickness and for Chronic Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis.

Vinol is sold in Rushville by F. B. Johnson & Co., Druggists.

FINE RECEPTION FOR THE NOMINEE

Indiana Continues to Give Ovation For Taft Today.

GREAT INDIANAPOLIS RALLY

Second Day of the Candidate's Tour

In the Hoosier State Ended In a Demonstration at the Capital City Which Displayed Much Popular Interest In the Head of the Ticket—Beginning at Greenfield This Morning, the Nominee Is Receiving Further Ovation In Indiana Today, To End at Chicago Tonight.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 24.—William Howard Taft came into Indianapolis last night and Indianapolis was glad to see him judging from the tremendous outpouring of citizens to greet the Republican candidate. He rode in a great parade, reviewed it and made three speeches. Two of these were brief addresses to outdoor audiences, shortened by the condition of his throat and the third was made to a crowd that packed beyond normal capacity the big auditorium in Virginia avenue. The candidate arrived from Shelbyville, at the end of a day of speech-making on his special train, throughout the state. He was met at the union station by a big reception committee in automobiles. At 9 o'clock the parade started with Taft at the head. He dropped out at the court house to watch the long line go by. He made his first speech at the corner of Meridian and New York streets; his second on the Circle, in front of the Columbia club. The one and a half hour effort at the auditorium did not begin until after 10 o'clock, but the crowd that waited was more than two halls could have held. Dozens of marching clubs participated in the parade, which was one of the greatest ever seen in this city. Bands were out in great numbers and drum corps were as thick as banners. A squadron of mounted police led the demonstration, followed by the Taft cavalry, out in great numbers. The Marion and Columbia clubs were well represented. Following his big Indianapolis reception, with which he expressed himself well pleased, Mr. Taft went to bed aboard his private car to rest before taking up the last day of his strenuous Indiana campaign.

"It's wonderful how these people come out on a night like this and stand in all this rain," said Col. Dan M. Ransdell, who has the Taft special in his charge.

"We have had some big events in other cities," said another of the Taft party, "but this is the most remarkable of all the demonstration in Mr. Taft's honor."

Leaving here early this morning Mr. Taft opened the day's speech-making at Greenfield, his train being scheduled for stops during the day at Richmond, Winchester, Portland, Decatur, Fort Wayne, Columbia City, Warsaw, Goshen, Elkhart, South Bend, Laporte, Michigan City and Hammond, the day to close with a meeting at Chicago. Reports received here from the train enroute indicate the reception at the various stops on his itinerary is but a repetition of the welcome given him in Indiana on the two previous days.

BRYAN IN NEW JERSEY

Candidate Closes a Strenuous Day At Newark.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 24.—New Jersey poured out her hosts to greet William J. Bryan. The Democratic candidate was in splendid form and took advantage of this to inject into his utterances a spirit which enabled him to impress his audiences everywhere.

Traveling at a nerve-racking clip over a zig-zag course in a handsomely equipped special train, in charge of State Chairman J. R. Nugent, Mr. Bryan was enabled to talk to great numbers of farmers, laboring men and others in the farming and industrial centers of the state. Evidently inspired by President Roosevelt's recent declaration on the subject of labor, in which President Samuel Gompers and himself were severely criticized, Mr. Bryan chose for his main text the labor question, and in all of his speeches of which there were sixteen, made merry with the president. He accused the president of butting into the campaign again and deposing Mr. Gompers, and said sarcastically that he expected before long that he himself would be deposed and Mr. Nicholas Longworth, the president's son-in-law, placed at the head of the Democracy. He never lost an opportunity to define the difference between the platforms of the Republican and Democratic parties with respect to labor and explained with minute detail the pledges which the Democratic party made at Denver to secure the remedial legislation for which, he said, labor was crying, but to which the Republicans had turned a deaf ear. Incidentally at West Philadelphia, on his way into

New Jersey, the candidate referred to the fact that his voice had held out so well because he had no ragged arguments to pass through his throat. While at White House, seizing upon the name for a witty preliminary to his speech, he said:

"I am here at last. It has been rather a long journey, but happily ended." His platform having outlined the remedial legislation which Democracy demanded should be enacted, he said, it would be carried out in letter and in spirit and that was about all he could say in an inaugural address. At Trenton he told the people that he had a united Democracy behind him and a frightened Republican party in front of him. The climax of the eventful day came when he visited Newark last night. His progress through the streets to the auditorium where he spoke, was nothing short of an ovation. A seething mass of humanity followed him to the hall, already long before packed to its capacity, while on the outside were countless numbers who, unable to gain admittance, made it necessary for him to deliver an overflow address.

SHOCKING TRAGEDY ENDS BRIDAL TOUR

Bridegroom Slain by Former Suitor of the Bride.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 24.—On her bridal tour which had begun scarcely one hour before, and seated in a railroad coach almost between her husband and a suitor for her hand, Mrs. Fred Vaningen saw the flash of the suitor's revolver, felt the sudden grip of her husband's hand as the bullet killed him, and then turned and fought for her life. When the girl appeared about to become the victim of the second bullet from the revolver, her uncle, a man with grey hair, but strong and cool under the excitement, rushed up and thrust his thumb beneath the hammer of the revolver, jamming the mechanism and rendering the weapon harmless.

This was the story which the other passengers on the Texas & Pacific "Cannon Ball" told when they reached this city, but the principal actors in the tragedy, most of whom are connected with Louisiana's leading families, have so far refused to discuss the matter.

The former suitor is F. S. Beauve, of Plaquemine, La., at which place he was taken from the train and placed under arrest. The unfortunate husband was Prof. Fred Vaningen, a prominent teacher of Alexandria, La., and a relative of former Gov. Blanchard. The bride is the daughter of James M. Rhorer, one of the leading officials of Iberville parish, residing at Baton Rouge. Beauve is twenty-four years old and Vaningen was twenty-three.

The wedding took place at Alexandria. Beauve was in town, having arrived there, it is reported, on the same day as Miss Rhorer. When the bridal couple left for New Orleans, he boarded the train also and after a time sat in a seat where he was facing Mr. and Mrs. Vaningen, with the bride between him and her husband. Other passengers say Beauve talked with the bridal couple just before the shooting and that his manner appeared cordial. It was at first reported that he congratulated them but this was later denied. The young woman's hand was in her husband's when Beauve suddenly drew his revolver and fired. After being disarmed the young man quietly submitted to arrest.

Itching Skin Disease Readily Cured by a Simple Remedy.

The sufferer can be convinced by sending for a free trial package of Zemo to E. W. ROSE MEDICINE CO., St. Louis, Mo.

Zemo is a clean liquid for external use. It is of vegetable origin, pleasant and agreeable to use. The first application will stop the itching and burning, and if used according to the direction, will draw all the germs and tehir poisons to the surface and destroy them, leaving a nice, clear, healthy skin.

Zemo has made some remarkable cures of chronic cases of skin disease that had been pronounced incurable by the leading skin specialists of this country. Among these cures is Mr. Jacob Frank, proprietor Frank Mercantile Co., 821 N. 6th Street, St. Louis, Mo.; R. W. Emerson, President Anchor Steam Laundry, St. Louis, Mo.; W. P. Taylor, 108 Shinkle street, Findlay, Ohio; Mrs. Harvey Burks, Harrisburg, Ill. These persons were cured by Zemo after they had given up all hope of ever being cured. They will gladly answer all inquiries.

Zemo is for sale everywhere. Mr. F. E. Wolcott, the druggist, has secured the agency for Zemo in Rushville. He indorses and recommends Zemo and will be glad to show you photos and letters and other proof from prominent persons who have been cured by this remarkable remedy.

FAMOUS PEOPLE BY FANNIE M. LOTHROP

HOMER WATSON The Great Landscape Painter.

Every great landscape artist is both a poet and a painter. The imagination, the intuition, the interpretation, the sympathy, the reverence, the love, kinship and communion with Nature of the poet, filtering through the mind of the artist find their medium of expression in brush and colors. Every great painting is a poem in paint instead of in print.

One feels this strongly in the presence of Homer Watson's paintings, the putting on canvas of a single mood, with detail ever subordinated to the general effect. They are never photographic, but are always strongly individual interpretations. Whether it be a rough sea with the dancing fisher-boats under a dull, rain-faded sky, the white mill catching the high lights with its background of foliage, the lone rider bent over his horse plodding along a rain-washed road, some noble monarch forest tree braving the elements, or his interpretations of any other moods of Nature, one always feels the sentiment, the richness of color, the atmosphere, the glow, the feeling—all seem parts of a single effect. The dainty daubs of detail characteristic of some painters find no place in Mr. Watson's work; it is ever bold, rugged, broad in treatment, breathing vigor and vitality.

Homer Watson was born in the little village of Doon, on Grand River, Ont., in 1856, and as a boy at school showed his natural instinct for art when he surreptitiously drew on his slate an over-vivid picture of the strong and peculiar features of his teacher, which drew upon him deserved punishment. He seemed to turn naturally to landscape work, and his first large painting "The Pioneer Mill," which appeared at the first exhibition of the Royal Canadian Academy was purchased by the Marquis of Lorne, and now hangs in a place of honor in Windsor Castle.

Mr. Watson has exhibited at the Academy in England, the New Gallery, the New English Art Club, the Glasgow Institute and at International Expositions, and been honored by one-man exhibitions where thirty or more of his paintings were hung together, thus enabling one to study comparatively the range of his work. He makes almost annual trips to England, but loves Canada, her scenes and her people too well to take up permanent residence abroad. It is always dangerous to compare the work of one painter with another as it may carry with it a suggestion of imitation which would be unjust to one whose work is so individual as Mr. Watson's; but the critics in their appreciation of his paintings couple his name with Corot, Constable, Diaz, Rousseau and Courbet—a noble band of masters with whom Canada's painter may feel honored to be classed.

ORGANIZED LABOR SUPPORTS TAFT.

Majority of the Real Leaders and Workers Will Vote for Their Real Friends.

No Longer Any Doubt But That Taft Will Get the Majority of Labor Votes Despite the Unscrupulous Fight Made by Gompers in Behalf of the Democratic Bosses.

Leaders of organized labor are opposed to Samuel Gompers in his efforts to deliver the labor vote to Bryan, and there is every indication that Taft will get the votes of most laboring men. At least three of the most influential vice-presidents of the American Federation of Labor evidently disagree with Gompers.

One of the men who called on President Roosevelt recently gave assurance that John Mitchell is not for Bryan, as intimated in a telegram alleged to be from him published in the last two days. He declared on authority, said to be that of Mr. Mitchell himself, that the noted labor leader did not write any telegram putting himself in the Bryan column. The telegram is said to be a fabrication.

James Duncan, first vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, next in authority to Gompers and a man of great influence in the organization, has written a letter to Willis Moore, chief of the weather bureau, pointedly antagonizing the attitude of Mr. Gompers and asserting that each individual should be allowed to vote without pressure from any one.

Daniel Keefe, sixth vice-president of the federation and president of the Longshoremen's union, is out for Taft and working hard for him. Keefe advises labor people to vote for Taft. Thus three of the six vice-presidents under Mr. Gompers are either supporting Taft or are opposing any plan that will place the organization as a body against the Republican nominee. Mr. Keefe said recently:

"Bryan has not been endorsed for president by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor. Neither has any one the right to criticize a union man for voting for any other candidate for president. In fact I will vote for Taft."

Taft's True Attitude Understood.

The Labor World of Pittsburgh says: "Every day it is becoming more and more apparent that the more the 'labor' record of Judge Taft is discussed the more does the fact shine forth that he is a real friend of labor. The truth has always been recognized by the intelligent and fair-minded trade union leaders and officials, many of whom have the courage to stand boldly out and declare themselves to this effect despite the fact that undue pressure is being exercised to subdue such declaration."

The United Mine Workers of America, the strongest organization numerically in the country, will not be bound by the political program of the American Federation of Labor, to support Bryan and the Democratic platform. In an official circular issued by T. L. Lewis, international president of the union, to the 300,000 members, he says the membership has intelligence enough to know how to vote without any advice from him and he will do nothing to influence their political preferences in any way.

"Public Beggar" Story Confirmed.

A campaign sensation was sprung at Wheeling, West Virginia, at a Republican rally when Honorable M. M. Garland of Pittsburgh, former president of the Amalgamated Association, declared he was present when William Jennings Bryan stigmatized union labor leaders as "beggars" and labor unions as "nuisances" in 1893, when the Ways and Means Committee of the National House of Representatives was considering the original Wilson tariff bill.

William R. Fairley, of Alabama, for the last ten years a member of the executive board of the United Mine Workers, has come out with the statement that it was the duty of laboring men to vote for Taft and Sherman. His stand is a practical repudiation of the leadership of Samuel Gompers, and additional evidence that the attempt of Gompers to "deliver" the labor vote to Bryan is a dismal failure.

Among the well-known trade unionists of Pennsylvania is George W. Boyd of the Structural Ironworkers' Union. He is fearless in the declaration of his opinion and is always guided by what he absolutely believes to be the truth. He is a believer in W. H. Taft as a friend of labor.

Prominent Chicagoan Defies Gompers

In the Piano, Organ and Musical Instrument Workers' Official Journal Charles Dold, the editor, who was formerly president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, bitterly assails Samuel Gompers for his effort to deliver the union labor vote in this campaign. He criticizes in particular a circular issued by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, asking the wage-earners to contribute to the Democratic campaign fund. Two quotations from the editorial are sufficient to show what is thought of Gompers' effort:

"We have searched diligently for some act or deed of the Democratic party justifying labor's support, but have been unable to find one.

"The most deplorable working condition in the United States, the lowest wages, the greatest illiteracy, are all to be found there under the Democratic regime of the 'Solid South.' And the 'Solid South' controls the Democratic party."

On behalf of the International Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers a statement has been issued, saying "a man is known by the company he keeps, and Mr. Bryan has publicly chosen to associate himself with men with whose unsavory past he is quite familiar."

The Alton (Ill.) Glassblowers' union, the largest union in the American Bottle Blowers' association, has repudiated interference by Samuel Gompers, who advised the union to endorse Bryan for President, and summarily laid on the table the communication from President Gompers at their business meeting.

The president of Highland Lodge, Amalgamated Iron and Steel Workers, of Terre Haute, Ind., said his organization cannot join in partisan politics, and that it also turned down an appeal from Gompers sent from American Federation headquarters for a contribution to the Democratic campaign fund.

Minnesota and Iowa for Taft.

Bryan is not to receive the solid labor vote of Minnesota. Contrary to the repeated predictions and efforts of Democratic labor leaders there appears to be a big split in the ranks of organized labor, and Taft will receive his due share of votes from the union men. Fifteen of the most prominent union men in Minneapolis have signed a circular letter declaring they take exception to the methods used by the Bryan element of the organizations, and many believe the labor men of the State will exercise their individual wills when voting and will cast their ballots for the Republican nominee.

There is every reason to believe that a movement has set in among the laboring classes of Iowa. The workers in the large industrial communities, towards Taft and the Republican ticket. Not only are the labor leaders who early in the campaign were advocating the election of Bryan less active in the support of the Democratic ticket, but many men less prominent but no less influential in the councils of the various labor organizations are openly counseling a more rigid scrutiny of party promises and records.

August A. Babitz, secretary of the Central Labor Union of Lexington, Ky., urges his fellows to vote the Republican ticket in order to insure a continuation of prosperity.

BRYAN AGAINST

WOOL GROWERS.

Proposed Policies of Democracy Would Wreck Wool Growing Industry.

McKinley was elected through a number of Rocky Mountain states which had voted for Cleveland. These states were Democratic because of the large mining population. They turned to McKinley on account of the severe punishment they had received by placing wool on the free list during the four years of the life of the Wilson Tariff act, which on the theory of free raw material swept away the duty upon wool, and this nearly destroyed the wool growing industry of the United States; and if it had not been saved by the Dingley act, which restored the McKinley duties upon wool, the industry by this time would have been wiped out in the United States. Bryan hopes to carry Wisconsin, which is a wool growing state, and the Rocky Mountain wool growing states which voted for Cleveland the last time. Apparently he expects the wool growers to overlook the fact that the Republican platform expresses and defines protection to American industries, particularly mentioning the farmer, who is a wool grower.

Bryan's election would be a menace to the wool grower in two ways. The Democratic party has defined its attitude toward wool as a raw material, although it is the finished product of the farmer. It takes a whole year to grow a fleece of wool, and in this climate, where sheep are fed in winter, they are fed crops, which represent labor and high-priced American labor, whereas the competitor of the American wool grower is the wool grower of the Southern Hemisphere (Australia, the Argentine Republic and South Africa), who has the advantage of perennial pasture, and owing to this advantage, the cost of wool growing is only one-half of that of the American wool grower who, in the states enumerated, have to feed their sheep in the winter.

Another way to destroy the American wool grower would be by the destruction of the American Woolen Company, which consumes 40 per cent of American wool, on the ground that it is a trust. The American Woolen Company is composed of what were formerly some of the largest mills of the United States. They are thus what Bryan would denominate a "trust," and as his platform boldly declares that the products of trusts should be put on the free list, he would destroy the market for what American wool would be left.

Then, again, if, in order to strike at the trust, he removes the duty upon "manufacturers of wool," he destroys the other 60 per cent of the independent mills outside of the American Woolen Company, or, in other words, those that are not in the trust. The Bryan policy spells ruin alike to wool growers and wool manufacturers.—American Economist.

TO MIDDLE WEST AND ROCKY MOUNTAIN STATES REPUBLICANS.

You want Mr. Taft and Mr. Sherman elected, and they cannot be elected unless the Republican National Committee has sufficient money to pay the legitimate expenses of the campaign. It costs money to maintain an organization. It requires money to pay for printing, postage, salaries or stenographers and clerks at headquarters, traveling expenses of speakers and numerous other details that go to make the campaign end successfully. Congress, as you know, has passed a law making it unlawful for us to solicit money from corporations. We must depend upon the contributions of individual voters. If every Republican in this Western Division would contribute one dollar to the campaign fund, we will be able to do all the things that the voters want done; we will be able to elect Taft and Sherman. Will you help? If so, please send one dollar to the chairman of your State Finance Committee, whose name appears in the list following, or send it direct to me and you will receive the official receipt of the Republican National Committee.

Respectfully,
FRED W. UPHAM,
Assistant Treasurer.

Contributions may be sent by check or money order to any of the following named chairmen of the various State finance committees:
Colorado, Hon. Whitney Newton, Denver.
Idaho, Hon. Frank F. Johnson, Wallace.
Illinois, Col. Frederick H. Smith, Peoria.
Iowa, Hon. Lafayette Young, Des Moines.
Kansas, Hon. Frank E. Grimes, Topeka.
Michigan, Hon. John N. Bagley, Detroit.
Missouri, Hon. O. L. Whitelaw, 409 North Second street, St. Louis.
Montana, Hon. Thomas A. Marlow, Helena.
Nebraska, Hon. John C. Wharton, Omaha.
New Mexico, Hon. J. W. Reynolds, Santa Fe.
North Dakota, Hon. James A. Buchanan, Buchanan.
Oregon, Dr. H. W. Coe, Portland.
South Dakota, Hon. O. W. Thompson, Vermillion.
Washington, Hon. James D. Hoge, Seattle.
Or to Fred W. Upham, Assistant Treasurer, 234 Michigan avenue, Chicago, Illinois.

TAFT AND EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY.

His Decision in the "Voight Case" Forerunner of Present Humane Statute.

A striking service to humanity which William H. Taft rendered in his judicial career is recalled by Eugene F. Ware, former Commissioner of Penitentiaries, in a letter to the Kansas City Star. Mr. Ware refers to what was known as the "Voight case," which was decided by Judge Taft in 1897. Judge Taft's decision, although overruled by the United States Supreme Court, is really the pioneer of a section of the present employers' liability law, which was passed through the efforts of President Roosevelt and a Republican Congress, as approved April 22, 1908.

Voight was an express messenger who, to get his job, had to sign an agreement releasing the express company from liability in case he was injured or killed. The express company had a contract with the railroad exempting the railroad from liability in the event of injury to an express messenger. Voight was severely injured, and sued the railroad for damages on the ground of gross negligence, arguing that the railroad company could not make a contract evading its responsibility.

Judge Taft gave Voight a judgment of $6,000 and costs, holding that the express company had no right to make such contracts; that they were oppressive, unreasonable and unjust, and were against public policy, and further that the railroad company owed to the express messenger the same public duty which it owed to a passenger.

The path blazed out by Judge Taft was followed in the new law referred to, which provides "That any contract, rule, regulation or device whatsoever, the purpose or intent of which shall be to enable any common carrier to exempt itself from any liability created by this act, shall to that extent be void."

DO NOT DISFRANCHISE YOURSELF

All Voters Should Read Carefully the Following Specific Instructions.

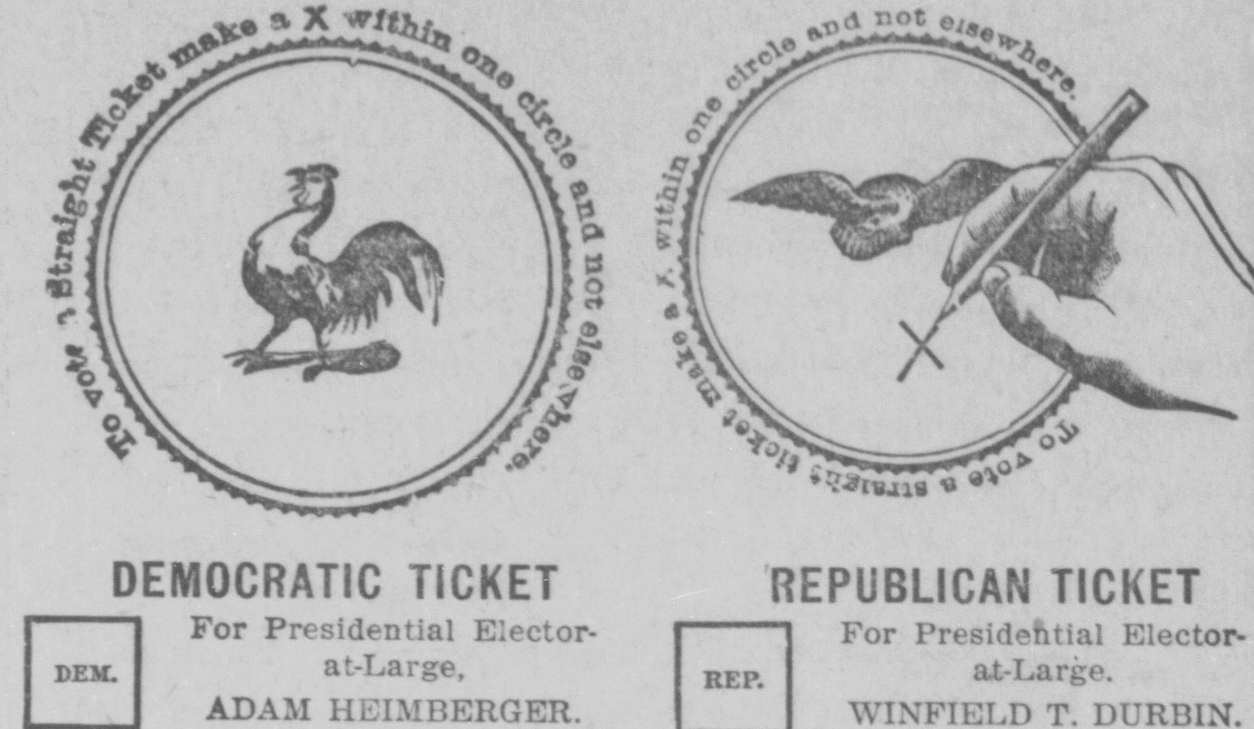

Every year thousands upon thousands of persons have their first experience in voting under the Australian ballot system. It is important that first voters especially should be carefully instructed, to the end that their votes may not be nullified through imperfections. Older voters also need instruction because of changes that have been made in the election laws. At public meetings and in private, voters should be given specific information with reference to the procedure necessary in casting a ballot. To this end the following instructions may be found of value:

The device at the head of the Democratic ticket is a rooster.

The device at the head of the Republican ticket is an eagle.

The Democratic ticket is in the first column, the Republican ticket is in the second column, and so on.

Below is a sample of the heading of the Democratic and Republican tickets, with the respective party devices, in the order in which they will appear on the ballot:

When you go into your voting place you will be handed three ballots:

The State ballot—On red paper, containing the candidates to be voted on for State offices, except for Senator and Representative.

The county ballot—Printed on white paper.

The township ballot—Printed on yellow paper, containing the township candidates.

If you want to vote a straight Republican ticket, make a cross within the circle containing the eagle at the head of the second column of the ballot.

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTERS:

First. You must get your ballot and the blue pencil from the Polling Clerks in the election room.

Second. If you desire to vote a straight Republican ticket, then make a cross, thus, X, within the large circle containing the eagle. If you do not desire to vote a straight ticket, you must not make a cross in the large circle containing the eagle, but must make a cross, thus, X, on the small square to the left of the name of each candidate for whom you desire to vote, on whatever list of candidates it may be. If the large circle at the head of the ticket is marked with a cross or otherwise and the ballot is marked with a cross or otherwise at any other place, it will be void and cannot be counted, unless there be no candidate for some office in the list printed under such marked device, in which case you may indicate your choice for such office by making a cross, thus, X, on the square to the left of the name of any candidate for such office on any other list. The cross must be placed within or on the circle or square, or the ballot will be void and can not be counted.

Third. Do not mutilate your ballots, nor mark them, either by scratching off a name or writing one upon them, nor in any other way put a mark upon them, except by placing one in the circle or on the squares, as above described. Otherwise the ballot will not be counted. You must not put any mark of any kind upon your ballot except in the manner above described.

Fourth. After you have marked your ballots, and before you leave the election booth, fold them up separately so that the face of each one can not be seen, and so the initial letters of the names of the Polling Clerks on the back thereof can be seen. Then hand your ballots to the Inspector, the pencil to the Polling Clerks, and immediately leave the election room.

Fifth. If you are physically unable to mark your ballots, or can not read English, so inform the Polling Clerks, and make an affidavit to that effect. They will then go with you into the election booth, and you can then tell them how you desire to vote, and they will mark your ballot for you. Neither you nor the Polling Clerks must permit any other person to hear or see how your ballot is marked. It is a penal offense to declare you can not read English or can not mark your ballot, if, in fact, you can.

[In no case can the ballots be marked by the Polling Clerks if the voter can read the English language and is physically able to mark his ballot. Nor can they mark it until the voter has made the proper affidavit.]

Sixth. If you should accidentally, or by mistake, deface, mutilate or spoil one of our ballots, return it to the Poll Clerks and get another one of the same kind.

Seventh. You must not accept a ballot from any person outside of the election room. Any ballot outside is fraudulent; and it is a penitentiary offense to have it in your possession, whether you attempt to vote it or not.

Eighth. You must not attempt to hold any conversation in the election room except with members of the Election Board and the Polling Clerks.

Ninth. Use only the blue pencil handed you by the Polling Clerks in marking your ballots. If you mark with any other pencil, your ballot so marked will be void, and will not be counted.

Tenth. You must not put any mark of any kind on your ballot, except as above described.

VOTING MACHINES.

If you are not able to vote by machine on account of disability or inability to read English, and make affidavit to that effect, you will be instructed by the Polling Clerks, as in the case of voting by ballot. If you request it you will be instructed by the Polling Clerks as to the manner of voting by machine. You cannot remain in the voting machine booth more than one minute; no person can be in or near the machine when a voter is voting unless it is the Polling Clerks while instructing and assisting the voter.

THE NEW LAW AS TO BUYING AND SELLING VOTES.

(Approved March 6, 1905. Acts 1905, p. 481.)

Penalty for Buying Votes.

1. That whoever, directly or indirectly, hires, buys or offers to hire or buy, or furnish any money or other means to be used, or directs or permits his money or other means to be used, to induce, hire or buy any person to vote or refrains from voting any ticket or for any candidate for any office, to be voted for at any election held in this State; or whoever attempts to induce any person to vote or to refrain from voting for any candidate for any office to be voted for at any election held pursuant to law or at any primary held in this State, by offering such person any reward or favor, shall be fined in any sum not more than fifty dollars and disfranchised and rendered incapable of holding any office of trust or profit for a period of ten years from the date of such conviction.

Penalty for Selling or Offering to Sell Votes.

2. Whoever sells, barter, or offers to sell or barter his vote or offers to refrain from voting for any candidate for any office to be voted for at any election held in this State, either for any money or property or thing of value or for any promise or favor or hope of reward, given or offered by any candidate to be voted for at any election held in this State or by any other person or persons, shall be fined in any sum not more than fifty dollars and disfranchised and rendered incapable of holding any office of trust or profit for a period of ten years from the date of such conviction.

Witnesses.

3. Any person called as a witness to testify against another for the violation of any of the provisions of sections one or two of this act, is a competent witness to prove the offense, although he may have been concerned as a party, he shall be compelled to testify as other witnesses, but such evidence shall not be used against him in any prosecution for such or any other offense growing out of matters about which he testifies, and he shall not be liable to trial indictment or information or punished for such offense.

Leonidas H. Mull, Democratic candidate for the State Senate, has sent out a long letter reciting his record in the Legislature ten years ago, and soliciting Republican votes upon the strength of it.

Even granting all he claims, will Mr. Mull please state any good reasons he may know, why the REPUBLICANS of this district should elect HIM, a Democrat, running on the regular Democratic ticket, and turn down Senator E. E. Moore, the REPUBLICAN NOMINEE, who to say the least, is just as good a man and citizen, whose record in standing for the right is as good, and for initiative in legislation and actual work accomplished is SUPERIOR to that of Mr. Mull?

Or can any GOOD REPUBLICAN name a reason for supporting Mull in preference to Moore? What would be gained by such a course?

Certainly nothing could be gained in the way of honorable service or able representation.

Then the Republicans of the district, by helping to elect a Democratic Legislature (the term of a Senator being four years), would simply contribute to the DEFEAT of both Senators HEMENWAY and BEVERIDGE for re-election to the United States Senate and their displacement by two DEMOCRATIC United States Senators. Would that PAY from a Republican standpoint? Might almost as well vote to defeat TAFT, as thus vote to deprive him of the support of a Republican United States Senate to assist him, and hold up his hands in carrying out his policies.

Nor is that the full measure of calamities to follow the election of a Democratic Legislature. Under the constitution the next Legislature will re-district the State for Congressional and Legislative purposes. So REPUBLICANS by thoughtlessly voting for Democratic candidates, would not only sacrifice two United States Senators, but would make possible a DEMOCRATIC GERRYMANDER of the State that would put Republicans out of business, and perpetuate the Democratic party in control in both the Legislature and Congress for a generation to come.

With a proper understanding of these vital facts we feel very certain that Leonidas H. Mull's appeal to Republican voters will be in vain. He has absolutely NO CLAIM that Mr. Moore does not possess in equal or greater measure, and Mr. Moore is a Republican, the Republican nominee, and has earned his re-election by faithful, efficient and honest service to the people of his district and State. Therefore Republicans will not allow themselves mislead, or ensnared into a dangerous and costly error. Besides they love fair play, and will vote for MOORE for Senator.

If by neglect of duty, or incapacity, or wrong conduct in any way Mr. Moore had failed to acquit himself honorably, there might be some excuse. But there is NO such excuse. On the other hand, he has made an exceptional record. He has stood for the right, fearlessly and unwaveringly, and has accomplished much for the people he represents. He has earned a vote of confidence. We need his services for another term, and he will be re-elected by a splendid majority.

Judge Taft has made the South sit up and think about the folly of cutting off its own nose.

Republican voters throughout the county are urged to vote early—before noon if possible.

Mr. Taft will be the sixth President to be born in Ohio. The others were Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Benjamin Harrison and McKinley.

Bryan wants to destroy the tariff protection of American workmen. Isn't there competition enough for work now? Vote for Taft and good times.

Keep your eye on that man Senator Beveridge. He may be President in about eight or twelve years, and you should get acquainted with him, his oratory and his convincing logic.

Do not vote for legislator or senator for sentimental reasons, or because he is a good fellow. Remember, a Democrat will, as a matter of course, vote and work with the Democratic organization of the legislature, and that means much. Sentiment should not figure in this case.

There is absolutely no valid reason why any Republican should scratch any name on his ticket—national, State, congressional, legislative, county, or township. On the local ticket the candidates are personally known to the great body of the voters and they are entitled to their party strength—and more—and will get it.

When through improved conditions of life people have become accustomed to a more generous scale of living, it is not easy to revert to the old ways when made necessary by the fickle turn of fortune. This is at present being realized by thousands of foreigners who returned to their native countries last year during the business depression. Very many of them went back with the intention of remaining, but they are changing their minds and coming to our shores again. They are doing this because so they say, after having enjoyed the more generous living this country afforded them, they could not content themselves with the simple and oftentimes meagre diet of their homeland.

Mr. Taft's hustling ability was shown during his recent trip around the world, when in four months he traveled 24,000 miles, visited eight countries, convened the first Philippine Assembly, talked with two Emperors, spoke in public between fifty and sixty times, was present at thirty banquets, and wasn't seasick, or otherwise ill, a single day.

HE KNEW WATSON IN HIS BOYHOOD

A. O. Marsh of Winchester Discussed Leading Issues of Campaign Last Night.

COUNTY IS LOGICAL UNIT

A. O. Marsh discussed the leading issues of the campaign last night at the Republican headquarters in the K. of P. building.

The speaker opened his address with a few remarks about Mr. Bryan and then gave a very lucid explanation of the tariff as it is today. "The fact that there is a tariff only on articles produced and manufactured in the United States is a thing which is greatly misunderstood," declared the speaker.

Winchester, the birthplace of James E. Watson, has been the home of Mr. Marsh for over a half century, and he was therefore qualified to speak of the early life of Mr. Watson, which he did in the very highest terms.

Mr. Marsh concluded his speech by making a very eloquent plea for the continuance of county local option. He said that the county was the natural unit, because it paid all the expense incurred indirectly by the saloon and also granted the license to the saloon.

TURKEY CROP IS SAID TO BE LARGE

There Will be Plenty of Them For Thanksgiving Day This Year.

WILL NOT HAVE TO EAT CROW

The butchers and packers are beginning to prepare their crates and in a short time the turkey gathering will begin in full swing. Present conditions show a general abundance of the fowls throughout the country. While the recent drought was detrimental to almost everything else on the farm it rounded the turkeys out in fine shape. The young birds thrive best during the weather of this kind and the Thanksgiving tables will be decorated with sweet savored meat of the most appetizing kind.

While the unfortunate fowls who are soon to perish upon the altar of epicurian satisfaction sit in melancholy meditation, thinking of the happy days of the past that can never again be a reality, and then the honors of an imminent future, impartial humanity already gloats over the glories and stomach filling of November 26.

MAGNA CHARTA OF AMERICAN LIBERTY

Rev. Abberley Will Close His Sermons With "The Man With the Bible."

MOST INTERESTING LECTURE

General Grant one time said "The Bible is the sheet-anchor of our liberties." The teachings of the book of books have certainly had a dominating influence in moulding the institutions of our country from the day the Pilgrim fathers landed at Plymouth Rock to the present hour. What is known as "Jefferson's Bible" which is a collection of texts containing the sayings of Jesus and now in possession of the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, is proof that the author of the Declaration of Independence regarded the New Testament as the real Magna Charta of American liberty.

At the Main Street Christian church Sunday evening, Rev. R. W. Abberley will deliver the last of his series of lectures on "The Makers of America," speaking of "The Man With the Bible" in our history. It promises to be the most interesting discussion of this series of helpful Sunday night lectures.

INGERSOLL'S DAUGHTERS ORGANIZE NEW SOCIETY.

A new society that will attract general attention because of the identity of the promoters has just been incorporated in New York under the name of the American Society for Humane Medical Research. Mrs. Eva Ingersoll Brown and Miss Maud Ingersoll, the daughters of the late Colonel Robert Ingersoll, the distinguished orator, lawyer and agnostic, are the moving spirits back of the organization. Mrs. Sue M. Farrell, a sister of the colonel, and her husband, C. P. Farrell, a publisher of this city, are also interested in the movement. The organization is the outgrowth of the recent anti-vivisection crusade. The objects, according to the papers of incorporation, are to conduct clinical and laboratory research in medical science, to maintain chemical, physical, biological and physiological laboratories and to establish a statistical bureau in New York City.

The daughters of Colonel Ingersoll have long been interested in the work of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and similar humanitarian movements. The new society hopes to do away with the necessity for vivisection and other cruel methods of prosecuting scientific research.

WORTHINGTON IS AT IT AGAIN

Was Released from the Connersville Jail Only to be Taken in Again.

FINALLY SENT OUT OF THE CITY

Says the Connersville Courier: "Fire water" has again been the undoing of Thomas Worthington of Rushville. The fellow was arrested several days ago by officer Elwood for being intoxicated and was locked up. Yesterday morning he was released from jail by Sheriff Jeffrey. It was early and the sheriff gave him his breakfast. As he was leaving Worthington told the sheriff he would leave town.

In the afternoon Chief Barker found him in the vicinity of the I & C traction station helplessly drunk. Where he purchased the intoxicants or how is a matter of conjecture. He was again taken to jail, but he will probably be given a ticket on the I. & C. or some other rolling apparatus this morning that will deliver him into the hands of another obliging sheriff.

ROYAL RAGE.

A Story of Emperor William II. and His Mother.

In a character sketch of Emperor William II. in the American Magazine Octave Mirbeau tells an interesting story of the Kaiser's relations with his royal mother. The incident was related by Prince Bismarck one night when he had been drinking too much. "And no one," remarks M. Mirbeau, "was more brutally sincere than Bismarck was under the influence of wine." Here is a part of the story:

"The relations between William and his mother, the Empress Frederick, became at last so bitter that William placed spies about her, even in the bedroom of his invalid father.

"Through one of these spies William learned of the existence of a journal which his father had kept for some years. Frederick had a taste for writing, and the fact that there was coldness between him and his son led William to fear that this secret journal might contain some criticism of his conduct.

"The empress, however, was clever enough to conceal the diary before her husband's death. Eluding the surveillance of her son, she sent the papers to her mother, Queen Victoria, or to her brother, then Prince of Wales, I don't remember which.

"Hardly had his father drawn his last breath when William over the dead body performed his first official act.

"It was to demand of his widowed mother the journal, which he termed a 'memorial.'

"The empress feigned ignorance. William insisted. He spoke as master, giving his mother the order to obey. She persisted in declaring that she knew nothing of the papers.

"Well," he commanded, purple with wrath, 'you will remain under close arrest until you have obeyed me!'

"Bismarck, arriving at Potsdam two hours after this, found the palace surrounded by squadrons of armed cavalry.

"The emperor, whom he found still exalted, told the old chancellor how he had met the disobedience of his mother.

"And she need not expect pity or consideration until she has obeyed me," he declared. 'You understand that, Mr. Chancellor? Until she has obeyed me?'

"The pupil had gone much too far. Bismarck saw at once that the buffoonery continued might mar the whole of William's reign. Later in life, he said, he used to wonder how he kept from laughing in his sovereign's face.

"What he did was to receive William's news with deferential silence and later, when the emperor was calmer, show him that his course was sure to meet with general disapproval. There was a way, he thought, of proceeding much more vigorously and at the same time efficaciously. Why not rather cut down the income of the empress, suspend her appanages?

"I know her majesty," said the good Bismarck. 'She has pride. Forced arrest she can brave out, accepting it as a sort of martyrdom, but the money, sire, the money! Who can resist money?'

"Further, he laid tactful stress upon the probable representations of England. 'Is it really the moment, sire?'

"The Kaiser, becoming appeased, listened to Bismarck's counsel. The arrest of the empress was removed. The officers led their cavalry back to quarters, and William turned his attention to the details of his father's obsequies, which he wished to be most fastidious."

MAXIM'S NEWEST IDEA

Smokeless Powder Inventor Now Plans to Lengthen Life.

TO USE CHLORINE SOLUTION.

Believes He Can Force It by Electricity Through All Parts of Body—Death Dealing Ability Will Be Turned to Killing Disease Germs—Features of His Device.

Hudson Maxim, inventor of the maxinite smokeless powder, high explosives and torpedoes which are the most powerful life destroying agents in the history of the world, has suddenly turned his line of effort from the field of death and is working assiduously along lines entirely opposite. His present efforts are being devoted to the perfection of a device that will cure all disease with a solution of chlorine passed through the human body by the aid of electricity.

Already drawings of the cabinet in which the treatment is to be administered have been filed in the patent office at Washington, and the great inventor expects soon to be granted his patent. All that he is now looking for is the proper electric current—one that has a higher potential than any heretofore used safely on the human body.

The great inventor was seen at his villa, situated picturesquely on the shore of Lake Hopatcong, New Jersey. "I can hardly explain," he said to a reporter of the New York American, "how I turned from the manufacture of instruments of death to the invention of something that will prolong human life. I've seen the success of one, and perhaps I am tired of that and desire something new. I have great faith in my newest idea and hope that it will become a practical part of life, and before long too I wish to say frankly, however, that at the present time it is in embryo, but it is none the less, to my mind, perfectly practical.

"A good deal of experimenting has already been done by different medical men with high potential electric currents, both for the direct germicidal influence of the electricity itself and also for the purpose of passing remedial agents into the tissues, but no great success has yet been attained.

"My idea is to use electric currents of very much higher potential than heretofore. Of course the amperage of the current need not be great.

"A well known process of making chloride of sodium and chloride of potash is by passing chlorine out of solution through a partition impervious to the flow of a liquid, but previous to the passage of the molecules of chlorine under the influence of the electric current, so that the potash solution on receiving the chlorine through the impervious partition is converted into chloride of potash.

"My idea is to interpose the human body as a portion of such partition and to pass chlorine, or an equivalent remedial agent, through the human body by means of a very high potential electric current of low amperage."

"Then do you claim prolonged life for mankind?" was asked.

"By killing the disease germs in a man's body you naturally lengthen his life," responded the inventor.

"But do you claim or expect that you can prolong life indefinitely?" persisted the interviewer.

"No," quickly answered Mr. Maxim, "because death is as much a part of life as is birth. Life can only be prolonged in the human body to a certain point. If my device proves successful we shall be able to do what Bob Ingersoll said he would do if he was God Almighty—'make good health catching.'"

At the request of the reporter Mr. Maxim made a diagram of his new device. It will be a cabinet of considerable size and will be divided into three parts. On either side will be tanks. One will hold an alkaline solution, while the other will contain a solution of chlorine. In the compartment between these two, wherein will sit the patient under treatment, will be another solution, which is the secret of the whole thing. Its nature the inventor refused to make known.

In the two outer compartments are powerful electrodes, and by the electricity as the agent the chemicals from the various solutions will be passed through the body.

The main idea is to interpose the human body as a part of the diaphragm, in electro osmosis, or cataphoresis, and in this way force the germ killing chemicals into and through the human tissues, lymph and blood.

Across the Water

By C. N. & A. M. WILLIAMSON * COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY McCLURE, PHILLIPS & CO.

"You'll hear a lot of talk about money at Newport," she went on, "too much. Among some of the people you'll be with, money's of more importance than anything else. Two or three rich young men are certain to ask you to marry them—very nice fellows they may be, and they will show you heaps of attention—all those that Cousin Katherine will let come near you—and as you're so young and inexperienced you may lose your head a little bit. But do remember that losing your head and being dattered and amused isn't falling in love. A man must be able to make you love him for himself, and that self must be worth loving, for nothing else is any good in the end. And now I'll tell you my story—just in a few words—because it will give you something to think about.

"I'm thirty-two now. When I was nineteen, a year older than you, I cared for a man and he for me. We cared for each other—terribly. But he was poor, and, not only that, he came from people whom mine looked down upon. We loved each other so much, though, that I would have married him in spite of all, but my relations thought it would ruin my life, and they advised and persuaded and implored and insisted, until I was weak enough to give the man up. They took me to Europe, and because I had some money an Italian prince we met in Rome wanted to marry me. They almost argued me into consenting, and though they didn't quite like the news went home to Kentucky that I was engaged. The man I really loved—loved dearly all the time, though I was trying to forget him—believed it. Why shouldn't he, since I'd given him up for the reasons I had? He was Catholic, and he went into a monastery we have in Kentucky and became a monk. No one ever wrote to me about it. All my friends thought the less I heard of him the better. And two years later, when I went back home—not engaged, and thinking in my heart that there was and always would be only one man for me in the world—it was to learn that that man had taken the final vows which would separate him from earthly love forever.

"Oh, Betty, you don't know what I suffered. I'd been saying to myself that when I saw him again—as I meant to—I would know by his eyes at the first glance whether he still cared as much as ever, and if he did I would ask him to marry me. But I never saw him again, except with the eyes of my heart, and I always see him so. Not an hour passes that I don't see him so."

"You poor darling!" I exclaimed. And there was a note in her voice that made my eyelids sting. "How little I guessed. And you seem so cheerful and even merry."

"One isn't in the world to be a wet blanket," said Sally. "Besides, one isn't actively miserable every minute for years because one has thrown away one's chance of real happiness. One gets along contentedly enough except in the bad hours, when instead of being a mild gray the world is ink black. But I haven't told you this to get sympathy, dear. It hasn't been quite easy telling, for I don't talk much about the deep down things in myself. I've told you in the hope that you'll remember me and my wasted years if your chance comes to be happy, even if it should be a chance which you think, in a worldly way, wouldn't be prudent or what your people would like. People have no right to try and order our lives, no matter how near they may be to us. It's we who have to live our lives, not they."

For a minute we were both silent, and then Sally said quietly, as if she were glad to speak: "Here comes some one we've seen before. Do you recognize him? And shall you bow?"

Vivace gave such a leap that his leash, which I'd been holding carelessly, was jerked out of my hand. It was my brown man who was coming—Jim Brett.

My face did feel red! Vivace was making such a fuss over him that Sally could hardly help guessing whose the dog had been before he was mine. But I made the best of it. "Of course I recognize him, and of course I shall bow," said I. "He was very kind to me on the dock when I was at letter B."

Sally didn't make any remark about Vivace's capers, though by this time he was wagging all over with joy at his master's feet and jumping up to his knees. I was grateful to her.

In another moment we three had met in the shady path far away from everybody else, and Vivace began running back and forth between his master and me, as if he wanted to make us good friends and not hurt either of our feelings.

"How do you do?" said I, holding out my hand. "What a coincidence meeting you here. And my dear little dog that somebody sent me does seem to take an extraordinary fancy to you, doesn't he?"

Mr. Jim Brett laughed and kept his hat off, which made him look very nice with the dappling green and gold light wavering over his thick, short black hair and his forehead, which is whiter than the rest of his face.

He had on better clothes than he had worn on shipboard, but they were blue serge, with the air of having been bought ready made at a cheap shop. In spite of them, however, he looked very handsome, and every inch of him a gentleman. I don't think many men, even in Stan's set, could wear those badly cut things and look as he did in them, though he does have to travel in the steerage.

I asked Sally if I might introduce Mr. Brett to her, and she said yes and smiled so sweetly that I was delighted, because for all her talk about nature's noblemen I felt I didn't know her well enough to be quite sure how she would take it. But she talked to him charmingly and complimented him upon his bravery on shipboard. "Every one of us admired you for it," she said, "and I'm very glad to meet you this morning."

Mr. Brett thanked her and, of course, said how pleased he was too. "I am taking a holiday," he added, looking at me. I was glad to hear that, because seeing him out at this time the thought had occurred to me that he might have lost his employment at the club. But I only answered that it was a lovely day for a holiday and that I didn't believe he could find a better place to spend part of it than in Central park.

"Have you fed the squirrels yet?" he asked.

"Oh, no. Can one do that?" I exclaimed. "I should love it."

"May I go and get some peanuts?" he said to Sally.

"Do," she said in her pleasant, friendly way, which was just as nice for him as it had been for Stan or nicer. "We will go on to the wistaria arbor and wait for you. There are always lots of squirrels there."

you be nice. I reckon he is a southern man."

"How can you tell?" I asked. "Oh, a little by that good looking brown face of his, perhaps, but more by his way of speaking. You English people lump up all together for our 'American accent,' but we can tell whether a person is from Massachusetts or New York or Illinois or Kentucky and so on just as you know Devonshire from Lancashire."

The wistaria arbor, which we soon reached, was like a fairy bower hung with thousands of amethyst lamps, burning perfume instead of oil, and the moment we sat down a troop of the fairy residents, cleverly disguised as gray squirrels, with adorable little faces, began excitedly to talk us over. With heads on one side, they criticised our feathers, our dresses, our hats and finally approved of them so far as to decide that we were creatures they might know. They stole nearer, by twos, by fours, then raced away again, gray and soft as undyed ostrich feathers, blown by the sweet smelling breeze, when they saw my brown man coming back with Vivace.

I was afraid that Vivace would make a dash and frighten them, but he evidently knows how to treat squirrels as equals, not as edibles, for he behaved himself like the little brindled gentleman that he is. Gravely he looked on as Mr. Brett produced six small, brown paper bags, crammed full of the most extraordinary objects. They looked something like wood carvings of unripe bean pods, but it appeared that they were peanuts. They smelt good, rather like freshly roasted coffee, and when you shelled them out of their woody pods they were large, fat beads, covered with a thin brown skin. I couldn't help feeling as if I had known Mr. Brett for a long time, as he sat by us on the bench under the wistaria, feeding Sally and me feed the squirrels and shelling peanuts for us to eat too. I do believe there must be something special about peanuts, which gives you a homey sort of feeling if you share them with people. They form a sort of bond of good fellowship, and I can't fancy ever being prim with a man after you had eaten peanuts with him.

Mr. Brett didn't tell us much about himself, but from the few things he did tell I gathered the impression that he has led an open air, adventurous sort of life. He showed that he knows a great deal about horses, and I rather hope he has been a cowboy like "The Virginian," in a delightful book I have found in Mrs. Ess Kay's library. Indeed, I imagine the hero of the story must have looked like Jim Brett. It is a splendid type.

Sally and he talked about books. He spoke about some college in the west where he had been, and I was glad that he was a university man, though why I should care I don't know. Anyway, Stan would be at sea and floundering in the subjects which my brown man of the steerage and Sally Woodburn discussed while the squirrels frisked about their shoulders. But then Stan doesn't care to talk too long about anything except hunting or shooting or polo or motoring—not even bridge, at which Vic says he loses a great deal of money.

We stopped in the wistaria arbor for more than an hour, as I knew by my bracelet watch, when Sally said suddenly we must go—though I hadn't dreamed till then that we had been half so long. I shook hands with Mr. Brett for goodby and so did Sally, but nobody spoke about our meeting again, as perhaps we should if he were in Mrs. Ess Kay's set. It seemed very sad and irrevocable, somehow, and I had a heavy sort of feeling that life can be full of hard things.

His eyes looked wistful and I said, what I couldn't have said to a man of my own rank. "I've kept those roses you sent to me by that dear, funny little black boy all this time in water and they are fresh still, though a lot of others I have had since are faded." I told him, and in that mood I didn't care whether Sally heard or not.

The brown man's face flushed up and the wistful look in his eyes brightened into something which I felt was gratitude for my rather silly speech. "I think those roses will hate to die," he said.

"Perhaps I shall press them in a book," I answered, "to remind me of my first hours in America."

Then we parted, and there was a fuss with Vivace, who had to be taken up in my arms or he would have choked himself with his collar in his desperate struggles to get free. He whimpered even then for a few minutes, but soon he was comforted and visibly made an effort to content himself with the fact that he was my dog.

FLEETS OF AIRSHIPS.

British War Balloon Expert Says Time For Them Is Near.

In the opinion of Colonel James Templer, former superintendent of the balloon factory of the British army at Aldershot, who talked at the Waldorf hotel in New York the other night on military aeronautics, it will be only a comparatively short time when the United States and other countries will have large fleets of large dirigible balloons for emergencies of war.

The colonel went to New York after witnessing the tests of Captain Thomas S. Baldwin's war balloon at Fort Myer, Va. He said countries like the United States and England, instead of having only two or three little dirigibles, carrying two or three men each, would ultimately be content with nothing less than several hundred war balloons.

"I was delighted," said the colonel, "with Captain Baldwin's balloon, as it was just the right shape and size efficiently to train men, and it certainly was a great personal success for Captain Baldwin—who, by the way, is a splendid chap—as hitherto that size balloon had never been made so that it could be both dirigible and buoyant. The fact of its taking up two men rendered the ascent made by Captain Baldwin and Lieutenant Lahm very surprising to me and a most unqualified success."

"I am delighted to think that, it is under consideration that Captain Baldwin is to receive instructions to build a larger dirigible balloon for your war department as soon as the money can be obtained. This matter should be pushed with all possible facility."

"I am delighted with my reception. I am delighted with the country. Unless I get orders I shall stay here under the Wrights' aeroplane tests are over. I want to see those, not that I have any doubt as to the Wrights meeting all the specifications of the war department, but because I believe they can do even more. I spent one whole day with Orville Wright, and I cannot tell you how favorably he impressed me. The Wrights are, in fact, the best up to date with aeroplanes. They have the best heavier than air machine that I have yet seen or read of. We have a man in England, Cody by name, who will really surprise people with an aeroplane that he will soon test for the British army. Then—ah, but I mustn't say anything about that—not a word," said the colonel seriously.

A Habit He Won't Contract.

A man who signs himself "A Son of Rest" sends us the following:

"Several people have asked me why I never work. I take this means of replying to all.

"The habit of working is like a habit of taking dope. If a man is a dope fiend and stops it he dies. Now, if a man gets the habit of working and then stops it he starves to death. Same thing. I shall never contract such a habit."—Cleveland Leader.

Moral of the Garden.

Nothing teaches patience like a garden. You may go round and watch the opening bud from day to day, but it takes its own time, and you cannot urge it on faster than it will. If forced it is only torn to pieces. All the best results of a garden, like those of life, are slowly but regularly progressive.—Exchange.

Experience.

"Experience would be a wonderful asset but for one thing."

"What's that?"

"You never can sell it for what it cost you."—Cleveland Leader.

INDIANA POLITICS

Robert G. Tucker.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 24.—With the campaign drawing to a close, the situation seems to be that the Republicans have gained confidence in the past week, while the Democrats have lost none. Their own increased activity is probably responsible for much of the new confidence on the part of the Republicans. It has been none too easy an effort for the leaders but they have finally got people out to their meetings and enthusiasm seems to be growing. Democrats admit this, but they declare that the Republicans have lost too many votes to ever regain them by any kind of hurrahing in the last days of the fight. Except in the case of the really big speakers it is a fact that no big crowds have attended Republican speakers, while the contrary is true of the Democratic meetings. A Congressman Overstreet meeting one night this week at which William Dudley Foulke was the principal speaker drew less than one hundred people, though held in one of the most comfortable halls in this city. That same night Bourke Cochran at the auditorium, had an audience twice too big for the building. However, it cannot be doubted that the good feeling among Republicans is increasing daily. They declare that Taft's trip has been an immense value to them and that ninety-five per cent of the vote that was inclined to wobble a week ago has now wobbled back into place. This is not admitted by Democratic leaders, who say that the wabbling still continues and that as much flopping as has been done has largely been in their direction.

Local politicians are just awakening to the importance of the colored vote in this campaign. A tremendous welcome accorded Bishop Walters of the A. M. E. church here speaking against Taft, caused the awakening. Walters came with very little heralding in advance, but there were two thousand negroes in the crowd that heard him. Efforts by Republican workers to disturb the meeting were fruitless, though the meeting had to be held outdoors, when a deacon of the church that had been engaged, refused to unlock the door. There are now five active Anti-Taft clubs in this city, each with a regular meeting place and a total membership of about 750. Two of these have colored attorneys for their presidents. One is named a Tom Marshall club. Never before this year did the colored vote separate itself from the Republican party to such an extent. George L. Knox, wealthy colored barber and a leader in the movement, says there are not less than 2,500 colored voters in this city who will vote for Bryan and Marshall. Bishop Walters used the argument that the negroes will never obtain any help from a party that can count upon its solid vote no matter what that party does. This has been their relation to the Republican party, he said, and they have not profited from it. Arguments like these are bringing over many who do not find an answer to it in the usual repetition of the cry that it was the Republicans who freed the race. This is one of the things that is giving great confidence to the Democratic leaders as the last ten days of the campaign comes on. The Kern special train remains problematical because of the condition of Mr. Kern's small son and today the Marshall special train was abandoned. It was decided that the speakers who would accompany it could be used to better advantage by sending them out independently.

The largest number of aliens employed in New York city are in the clothing industry, and it is because nearly all of the manufacturing is done in cities that the immigrants are segregated there.

In No Position to Intercede.

Washington, Oct. 24.—Not being signatory to the Berlin treaty of 1878, the United States is not in a position to intercede with Austria in behalf of Bosnia and Herzegovina, the Turkish provinces recently annexed by Austria, which President Roosevelt has been asked to do by a mass meeting of Servians in San Francisco. The president referred the request to the state department, which will send a formal reply indicating the attitude of the United States.

For a Final Conference.

New York, Oct. 24.—Chairman Hitchcock of the Republican national committee, left for Chicago last evening. He will have a final personal conference there on the political situation and conditions in the west and middle west and return here Monday morning. He said on his departure that upon his return he would remain here until after the election. He added that soon after his return here he would give out his forecast of the result.

Two Overcome by Gas in Well.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 24.—Henry B. Johnson, age forty-five years, and his son, age twenty-five, were overcome by gas in a well at Versailles near here, and died. Henry Johnson went into the well to clean it and was overcome by gas. His son went to his rescue and fell across his father's body. Both died before they could be rescued.

The Judge Not Frightened.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 24.—Judge Samuel Weaver, who has issued several warrants for alleged prohibition violations received a postal card informing him that a night riders organization had been formed here and that he was on the list for attention if he was not careful. Judge Weaver says he will pay no attention to the warning.

To those afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble, backache, rheumatism, Pineules for the Kidneys brings relief in the first dose. Hundreds of people today testify to their remarkable healing and tonic properties. 30 days' trial $1.00. They purify the blood. Sold by Lytle's drug store.

Applauded Woman's Defense.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 24.—Setting up the plea of the unwritten law, Mrs. Nancy Murrell was acquitted of a charge of murdering Miss Mary Terry, in the circuit court at Jackson. The trial was most remarkable in that men, women and children attended the session of court each day and applauded testimony favorable to the defense.

Destructive Forest Fire.

Sebree, Ky., Oct. 24.—That tract of forest land known as the Green River Flats, extending for several miles along either bank of the Green river is on fire. Already the flames have devoured much valuable timber.

Aged Man Fell From Roof.

Morgantown, Ind., Oct. 24.—James Pitcher, age seventy-three, of Trafalgar, seven miles north of here, fell from a roof and broke his neck. Death was instantaneous.

It is the weak nerves that are crying out for help. Then help them; don't drug the Stomach or stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. That is wrong. Vitalize those weak inside nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative and see how fast good health will come to you again. Test it and see. Sold by F. B. Johnson & Co.

GOVERNOR'S LIFE IS THREATENED

Tennessee's Chief Executive Going After Night Riders.

LATTER THREATEN REPRISALS

Bold Threats Against the Life of Governor Patterson for His Activity in Running Down the Murderers of Capt. Rankin Here Merely Served to Stimulate the State's Activity, and the Guards Have Been Strengthened and Reinforcements Ordered to the Reelfoot Region, Which Is Now Under Martial Rule.

Samburg, Tenn., Oct. 24.—Because of threats against the life of Governor M. R. Patterson, who is personally directing the investigation of night rider depredations in this vicinity, the detachment of troops assigned to safeguard the governor has been increased and additional precautions taken to prevent any attack on the military camp here. Guard lines have been doubled and reinforcements ordered to report to Col. Taton, who is in command of the military forces.

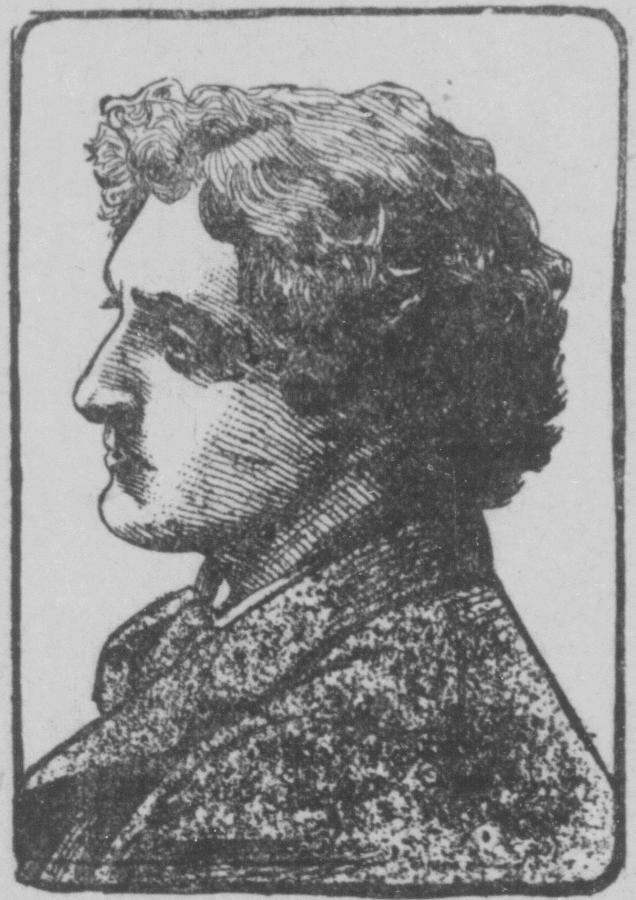

T. C. Ward, proprietor of the hotel at Walnut Log, from which Captain Quinton Rankin and Judge R. Z. Taylor were taken by a band of masked men Monday night, and Knox Morgan and Elmer Tate, merchants, were taken into custody. With their arrest the situation became so acute as to call forth instructions from the governor to Sheriff Dawson of Dyer county to report at once with a posse and the recruiting at Union City of another posse of picked men to work in conjunction with the military and the forces of the sheriffs of this and Lake county who are already on the scene.

Gov. Patterson visited the scene of the killing of Captain Rankin and proceeded from that point to Union City to confer with state and county officials and map out a plan for further action.

Many Leaving Reelfoot.

Union City, Tenn., Oct. 24.—Sheriff Charles Dawson of Dyer county accompanied by nine men heavily armed arrived here. The sheriff will confer with the governor and other officers. He and his men will then proceed to the lake. Reports received here are to the effect that there is a rapid exit of many citizens of the lake region. It is said that many are leaving for Kentucky and other states.

here, suffering from double pneumonia and jaundice. His condition was said today by his physicians to be critical.

Robbers Loot Fine Home.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 24.—Three masked men cut the telephone wires outside the fine Perkins home at Morristown, entered the house, knocked down one of the three maid servants, attacked and choked Mrs. H. W. Miller, a sister of the three Misses Perkins who were in the house, and then ransacked the place. The robbers who are believed to be the ones who cut the wires and looted the home of Banker H. B. March in Orange, a few nights ago, obtained at least $2,000 worth of jewelry in the Perkins house, and some money.

DOCTORS MISTAKES

Are said often to be buried six feet under ground. But many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another with nervous prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they present alike to themselves and their easy-going or over-busy doctor, separate diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, keeps up his treatment until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better. The reason of the wrong treatment, but probably worse, is a proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system. As a powerful invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," run-down, debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequalled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nerve "Favorite Prescription" is unequalled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. One to three a dose. Eat to take as candy.

DEATH LIST INCREASING.

More Than Seven Hundred Drowned In Philippine Flood.

Manila, Oct. 24.—The death roll of the storm in the Cagayan Valley Oct. 13, grows heavily as fuller reports come in. The constabulary of Tubogaro, capital of the province of Cagayan, report that five hundred persons were drowned there and that all the houses were destroyed or damaged.

The damage to the tobacco is estimated at several million pesos.

In the province of Abra the constabulary report heavy loss of life and great damage to property throughout the province.

It is known that 269 people were drowned and it is said that others were lost.

Hundreds of horses and cattle were drowned in the Cagayan valley. The constabulary are cremating the dead, and the government has dispatched rice to Vigan to feed the refugees. Cholera has appeared in three towns of Abra province.

WEATHER AND POLITICS.

Two Adverse Factors in the Trade Situation.

New York, Oct. 24.—Bradstreet's weekly review of trade today says: Retail trade still reflects the influence of warm weather and the approach of election breeds conservatism as regards heavy buying and the projection of new enterprises. However, there is more doing and more confident buying of raw material by manufacturers, who apparently forecast a change for the better in the latter part of this year or the early part of next. The large movement of wheat to market is responsible for the optimistic tenor of reports from distributive centers in the northwest. Effects of the drought are shown in almost total suspension of steamboat traffic on the Ohio river and its tributaries, the holding up of a large quantity of coal along that stream, the prevalence of destructive forest fires, and the low stage of water supplies. Reports as to collections vary, being best in the northwest and poorest in the south.

Gompers Preparing Reply.

New York, Oct. 24.—National Chairman Mack made public the following telegram from Samuel Gompers, president of the American federation of labor, and received by Mr. Bryan upon his arrival in Jersey City last night: "Just saw President Roosevelt's attack. I deem it my duty to advise you that I am preparing answer. Some newspapers are trying to embarrass you by declaring that you will appoint me member of your cabinet if you are elected president. You may say that I have publicly, emphatically and frequently declared that under no circumstances would I accept any public office, either elective or appointive, and this declaration is irrevocable. The contest of labor is for justice and not for office."

DEDICATION AT ANDERSONVILLE

Indiana Monument at Hatfield Prison Pen Near Completion.

MANY TO ATTEND EXERCISES

Dedication of Monument to Indiana Soldiers Who Gave Their Lives in Andersonville Prison Will Take Place November 26, and Many Indians Are Preparing to Attend the Ceremonies, Which Will Be Made Entertaining and Instructive—Governor and His Staff Will Be There.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 24.—Plans are rapidly being completed for the dedication of the Indiana monument at Andersonville, Ga., November 26. On that day the commission having charge of the erection of the monument will formally present it to Governor Hanly, acting as the representative of the state. Indications now are that many Indiana people will attend the exercises. The program that has been prepared promises that there will be many instructive and entertaining features in connection with the dedication. Addresses will be made by Governor Hanly, Dr. R. C. Griffith, president of the monument commission; D. C. Smith, treasurer of the commission; George Musson, who was a prisoner at Andersonville, and many others. In addition to these speeches, vocal artists and the Fort Screvens (Ga.) military band will give a musical entertainment. Governor Hanly and his staff will be escorted by a company of infantry from Fort McPherson.

VETERAN HAS TWO WIVES.

Married First Under Army Name, Second Under Real Name.

Lebanon, Ind., Oct. 24.—For more than thirty years Mrs. James K. P. Cashion, of Zionsville, a little town twelve miles southeast of here, has mourned the loss of her husband, only to find within the last few days that she had married him in 1866 under an assumed name, and that eleven years later, when he deserted her, he had resumed his real name, married another woman in Illinois, and is now living in Hannibal, Mo., with his second wife and an adopted daughter, age fifteen. Added to her grief for a supposed husband's death were her hard struggles to assist her family and keep her children near her. In 1866, Nancy J. Woods met a veteran of the civil war in Iowa. He wooed and won her and they were married in Lynn county, that state. He was a seemingly worthy man, a hard worker and apparently had a great love for his family. There were six children born to the union. When the youngest was two months old the father, who had been hard pressed by the panic of '77, started to the town of Cherokee, Ia., to pay off a mortgage and buy supplies for his family.

He never came back. Search was made all over the state, but no trace could be found of either him or his team, and he was given up for dead, the supposition being that he was murdered for his money. Two years later the wife returned to this county, and has lived here ever since. About ten years after the disappearance, the widow applied for and got a pension under the name of Nancy J. Cashion, widow of James K. P. Cashion.

A few weeks ago a government pension agent came to Mrs. Cashion's home and asked her to identify the photograph of a man. She immediately did so, saying it was that of her long lost husband. It then developed that when he had left her in Iowa he had gone to Illinois, where he married another woman, and that they had gone to Hannibal, Mo., where he had been in the employ of a lumber company ever since. Recently on account of infirmities he had been compelled to quit work and had applied for a pension. It seems that his real name was James Wood; that he was a southerner; had first joined the rebel army, but later deserted to the Union side and took the name of Cashion. After leaving his first wife he resumed his old name, and in Hannibal he is known as James Wood.

Fatal Runaway Accident.

St. Paul, Ind., Oct. 24.—While Mrs. Frank Hinton, accompanied by her fifteen-month-old daughter and Miss Mary Shaner, was driving down a steep hill near their home, two miles from this place, the horse became frightened and as the buggy turned a sharp curve it upset, throwing out all of the occupants. Mrs. Hinton's collar bone was broken and she probably will die; Miss Shaner suffered a broken arm, and bruises and cuts, and the baby was instantly killed.

Anderson, Ind., Oct. 24.—It is thought that ill health was the cause of the suicide of Mrs. August Bientert, thirty-nine years old, who shot and instantly killed herself at the home of the family, in this city. She had been in ill health for several months, and she recently told her husband that she had decided to take no further treatment.

DID NOT HAVE A REVOLVER

Son of Samp Casady Said Colored Man Drew Revolver on Him.

Shelbyville News: A colored man named Jackson, a member of the Republican drum corps, was accused of pulling a gun on the son of Samp Casady, Friday night and was taken before Mayor Swain by Officer Sutherland. Jackson and Casady were both questioned but no action was taken in the matter last night. When searched Jackson did not have a revolver.

SOCIETY NEWS

Miss Henrietta Coleman and Miss Ethel Amos gave a shower last night at the home of Miss Coleman in honor of Miss Nelle Kennedy, who will be married next Thursday evening. The bride-to-be was the recipient of many beautiful presents.

The Garrote.

The garrote is a thing that no man of nervous temperament should look at. Once seen it never can be forgotten. Just to think of it months afterward brings up a choking sensation which makes one long to tear away his collar and breathe the free air as deeply as he can. It rests upon a raised platform, an ordinary straight backed chair, with thin iron clasps on the elbows and legs of the chair. These are for the arms and ankles of the condemned criminal. At the top of the back of the chair is a band of iron, one end of which swings out so as to admit of a neck being inserted. This band snaps around in place, and all is ready. A twist of a crank in back and as the band crushes the neck back a pin pierces the medulla oblongata.—New York Sun.

To Cure Hay Fever.

Take one pound of ragweed leaves (with stems, flower and seeds indiscriminately or without them), boil in two quarts of water down to one quart and strain. Divide this one quart into three parts—viz, one pint and two half pints. On the first day take one-twelfth of the one pint every hour—twelve doses. The second day take one-twelfth of one half pint every hour, and on the third day take the same quantity—viz, one-twelfth of one-half pint.—Detroit Free Press

Fish and Salt.

And the mystery still lingers—why is it necessary to salt a fish caught in the salt ocean? A sea bass caught off Seabright requires just as much salt in the seasoning as a black bass caught in the saltless waters of Lake Erie.—New York Press.

The Widow's Might.

She—So your friend Singleton has voluntarily joined the ranks of the benedicts, has he? He—Not exactly; he was drafted. A widow married him.—Chicago News.

Notice.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Rush County Fair Association will meet in the assembly room on Oct. 31, 1908, at 1 o'clock p. m. to elect officers for the ensuing year. WILLIAM L. KING, Secretary. 191-tld2tw

MANILLA BOYS ARE IN TROUBLE

United States Government Taking Them Over the Coals For Telling Falsehoods.

ENLISTED IN THE ARMY

Made False Statements Regarding Their Ages—Must Pay Uncle Sam or go to Jail.

Harry Rozell and Cyrus Patterson of Manilla, two juveniles, have learned to their sorrow that a lie told to Uncle Sam is more summarily dealt with than is often the case in dealing with the lesser personages, says the Shelbyville News. They enlisted in the United States Army under Recruiting Officer Cranford last week, giving their ages as twenty-one. The parents objected and, with the assistance of the local night police, at five o'clock Friday morning succeeded in intercepting the youths. Captain Martindale of the United States cavalry, came to Shelbyville Friday to examine the boys but affairs had taken a different turn before he reached the city.

The matter doesn't end just here, though, as the cases will be referred to army officials. Following the proper investigation the boys must reimburse the government for every cent spend for them or stand trial, conviction in which means, according to Corporal Cranford's statements, imprisonment for the boys for a period of not less than one year nor more than three years, and a fine of not less than $1000 nor more than $5000.

GREATEST EVENT EVER HELD HERE

Will be the Monster All-Day Rally Next Saturday—Watson's Last Speech.

J. L. GRIFFITHS WILL BE HERE

On next Saturday will be the biggest political affair ever pulled off in Rushville. An all-day rally will be held and there will be no end of excitement. Four brass bands have been engaged and drum corps are coming galore. It is planned to have large delegations from every township and a large flag will be presented to the one making the best showing in the morning parade.

It is to be Jim Watson's Day in goodly old Rush. He will deliver the last speech of the campaign on this occasion. Hon. John L. Griffiths, one of the best orators in the nation, will speak at the afternoon meeting.

HALLOWE'EN PROCLAMATION.

The observance of the grotesque festivities of Hallowe'en seems to possess a growing charm for our people at each succeeding recurrence of the occasion as evidenced by the spontaneous response of all classes of people to a sentiment which, for the moment, causes the spirit of youthful frivolity to displace the more serious side of life.

Our people have been noted in the past for their universal response to the spirit of the occasion and they have also been remarked for their strict compliance with the restrictions which constituted authority throws around its observance. Whilst conceding to every citizen the fullest measure of liberty to enter into the spirit of the occasion, it is but prudent that a proper restraint be imposed upon those who, if unrestrained, might be led by excitement to the commission of acts injurious to others. Active participants in the orgies of the evening must exercise a proper regard for the persons and property of all our citizens.

Boisterous and unbecoming conduct will not be tolerated and no person will be permitted to carry canes, clubs or other weapons with which, in a moment of excitement injury might be inflicted on another.

The police department of the city have been instructed, whilst affording the fullest liberty to a harmless observance of the occasion to rigidly enforce the rules which have always prevailed for the prevention of injury to persons and property of all citizens.

As a great Republican rally will be held on the 31st, a number of extra police will be employed and all lawlessness will be immediately stopped and the violators lodged in jail.

H. M. COWING,
Mayor.

The Books Are Opened!

Read! Meditate! Figure!

A local paper has asked that the county books be opened. It has intimated that the disclosures might be startling. Such has been the case.

The county tax levy is less than 50 cents on the $100 and is levied equally throughout the county. The township trustee, together with his advisory board, levies the tax in his township, and he and they are responsible for the levy.

The table below shows the levy in each of the townships, seven of which are under Republican rule and five under Democratic rule. From the Democratic wall we would expect the lowest rate in the Democratic townships.

What does the record show?

The average rate of taxes in the five Democratic townships levied last September is 21 11/14 cents higher than the average in the seven Republican townships.

For the 1907 the average in the Democratic townships was 24 3/7 cents higher than in the Republican townships.

For 1906 the Democratic townships asked 36 39/70 cents on the hundred dollars MORE than the Republican townships, and for 1905 they were 23 1/5 cents higher.

Does this prove Democratic economy and Republican extravagance?

You who live in Democratic townships can, by a little calculation, find exactly what Democracy in your township has cost you Notice the following table carefully and ask your Democratic neighbor to explain. Hold him to the records.

Good PROMISES can not conceal BAD PERFORMANCES.
